IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Engagement of Miss Minnie A. West Announced.

CAPT. F. A. BARTON IN CITY

Marriage of Miss Mary Astor Paul to Charles A. Munn at Philadelphia One of the Most Brilliant Ceremonies of Season—Miss Frances Fell to Wed Mr. Devereaux To-morrow.

Commissioner and Mrs. Henry Litchfield West announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Minnie Athow, to Mr. Orville Breckinridge Drown, a wedding to take place in the early fall. Miss West is one of the popular members of the younger set, and a pupil of Central High School. Mr. Drown is a young business man of Washington.

The marriage of Miss Mary Astor Paul, of Philadelphia, to Mr. Charles A. Munn, of this city, was a brilliant, though small, social affair of Philadelphia yesterday. The ceremony took place at noon in the quaint little church, St. Martin's, at Radnor, Pa., Rev. George Lamb, rector, officiating, assisted by Rev. James Lamb, rector of old St. David's Church, at Devon. The church was turned into a veritable bower of flowers for the occasion, and none but the immediate members of the families of the bride and bridegroom witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. A. J. Drexel Paul, and attended by her cousin, Miss Frances P. D. Fell, and her intimate friend, Miss Edith Wayne. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Gurnee Munn, of Washington, as best man. The bride wore a handsome gown of white lace, her tulle veil hanging held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. The ceremony was a diamond necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. After the ceremony a large breakfast and reception followed at Woodcrest, the bride's home at Radnor.

The large house built by the bride's father, who died last October, was lavishly decorated with palms and white roses. The breakfast was served at small tables on the lawn and also in the house, while the bride's table was placed on one of the verandas. A band of music stationed in the hall played during the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Paul, Jr. Her mother, who died years ago, was formerly Fanny Waldorf Astor, formerly Miss Mary Paul, of Philadelphia. She received most of her education abroad, and made her debut at a famous ball given in her honor by her father at the Horticultural Hall on December 28, 1897. She is an expert horsewoman, and is a prominent figure at all outdoor sports. She is an enthusiastic exhibitor at both the St. Martin and Bryn Mawr horse shows, where, driving her own horses, she has successfully carried off many blue ribbons.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Charles A. Munn, of Washington, and is a brother of Miss Carrie L. Munn, who made her debut at a large ball following closely on the one given for Miss Ethel Roosevelt, who is one of her intimate friends. He is still an undergraduate at Harvard, and has another year to complete his course. Mr. and Mrs. Munn have planned to take a house near Boston for a year. The following friends of the bridegroom were present at the wedding: Mrs. Munn and Miss Munn, mother and sister of the bridegroom; Mr. Robert Bacon and Mr. Gaston Bacon, of Washington; Mr. Maurice Roche, of New York; Mr. Francis Riggs, of Washington; Mr. Thomas Blumer, of New York; Mr. John Thayer, of Boston; Mr. Alan E. Ross, of New York; Mr. Hamilton Fish, Mr. Frederick Forster, and Mr. Peabody Gardner, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Munn will sail for Europe in a few days, and will pass their honeymoon motoring through England.

Miss Frances Fell, the maid of honor, who is a cousin of the bride, will be married to-morrow to Mr. A. J. Antelo Devereaux. The cousins are close friends, one a bride, the other a bride-to-be. They made their first bow to society at the same time, and have been two of the most prominent figures in smart society in Philadelphia, New York, and Newport ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer are entertaining a house party of guests for the weekend at their country seat, "Camp Hill Hall," at Washington. Others having parties for the two weddings are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Drexel, at "Wootton," Bryn Mawr, their country place, and Mrs. Joseph Drexel, at "Penryn," at Torrensale, Pa.

The Vice President, Mr. James S. Sherman, spent the week-end with his family in their home in Utica, N. Y.

Viscount and Viscountess de Sibour and their young son, Viscount Henri, have sailed for Europe to spend the summer.

Mrs. Satterlee and Miss Constance Satterlee, wife and daughter of the late Bishop of Washington, sailed on Saturday to spend some months abroad.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand are receiving constant attentions in Seattle, where they are visiting the exposition. Mme. Jusserand was the guest of honor, along with Mrs. R. A. Ballinger, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, who is spending the summer in her Seattle home, at a reception given by the Daughters of the American Revolution, following the presentation of their statue of Washington to the exposition on Flag Day, June 14. After the reception Mrs. Ballinger entertained at a luncheon in honor of Mme. Jusserand at the Country Club. Mme. Jounon-Roche, wife of the French consul at Seattle, was also present. In the evening of that day the Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Collins, and later were the guests in whose honor a brilliant reception was given by President Chilberg, of the exposition, and Mrs. Chilberg.

An interesting feature of the unveiling of the statue presented by the D. A. R. was the fact that it was unveiled by the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Caldwell and a great-granddaughter of John Augustine Washington, the last member of the Washington family to own Mount Vernon before it was purchased by the nation. Little Eleanor Caldwell is also a near relative of Representative and Mrs. W. A. Jones, of Virginia.

The marriage is announced of Miss Margaret Richter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richter, to Mr. Frank E. Medford, on Monday, June 14, by Rev. P. J. O'Connell. The bride was attended by Miss Jennie Donegan, maid of honor, Alexander Bielaski, pastor of Kingsley M. E. Church, in Cumberland, Md. He will perform the ceremony for his son. Mrs. Bielaski and Miss Alice Bielaski will also be present at the wedding. The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of the George Washington University, and during his college days was captain of both the football and baseball teams.

Mr. and Mrs. James Elverson, of Philadelphia, are spending the spring and summer abroad, and will be joined in London this week by their daughter, Mme. Patenotre was married during the Ambassador's service here, where her parents maintained a splendid country home just above Georgetown. She was a great belle in her girlhood, both here and in Philadelphia.

The bridegroom is the son of a prominent business man of the South. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will remain in Washington for the present and later will visit New York, Boston, and Atlantic City.

An engagement of special interest here, as well as in Baltimore, is that just announced of Miss Sarah McCord Grasty, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Grasty, formerly of Baltimore, now of St. Paul, Minn., to Capt. George de Grasse Catlin, U. S. A. The marriage will take place September 4, and the bride and bridegroom elect will spend three months in Europe afterward. Capt. Catlin is stationed at Fort Snelling, near St. Paul.
